Through The Eyes of a Photojournalist

Friday September 5, 2025 – 7:30 pm (eastern Time)

TOPIC

This talk is a visual and emotional journey that speaks to the enduring strength of the human spirit. It explores how, even in the darkest of times, people find ways to carry on. Through it all, Suarez offers a deeply human perspective shaped by years on the front lines: that hope, compassion, and resilience continue to outshine despair.

Over the course of two decades as a staff photographer for major publications—bookended by two of the most heartbreaking events in recent U.S. history, the Columbine High School shooting and the Sandy Hook Elementary School massacre—two-time Pulitzer Prize-winning photographer Essdras M Suarez has borne witness to the extremes of the human experience.

Bio

Essdras M Suarez is a two-time Pulitzer Prize-winning photojournalist whose career spans more than three decades. Known for his powerful visual storytelling and technical mastery, he spent 20 years as a staff photographer at major U.S. newspapers before transitioning into freelance work and creative entrepreneurship.

As a sought-after speaker and educator, he has presented across five continents. He has served as a U.S. State Department Expert Speaker, taught photojournalism at Boston University's College of Communications, and delivered lectures at institutions including Harvard, MIT, Northeastern University, and the University of Florida.
